FOOD SAFETY ON THE FARM

PRODUCER-TO-PRODUCER WORKSHOP SERIES

This series of on-farm food safety workshops will focus on ways for growers to assess food safety risks on the farm and will help producers understand where contamination can occur while providing them with low-cost options for ensuring food safety. The workshops will provide a secure and friendly atmosphere for farmers to ask questions about on-farm food safety issues.

Participants will receive the Good Agricultural Practices Grower Self Assessment kits developed by Cornell University, valued at over $12, as well as other topic-specific educational resources.

Each workshop will include plenty of time for networking with other growers and refreshments will be provided.
