Come experience the bounty of Boise at the Basque Center

A cultural meeting place, the Basque Center is part of the "Basque Block", which also includes: The Basque Museum and Cultural Center, Fronton Building, and Gernika Basque Pub & Eatery on the South side of Grove Street. The North side of Grove St. includes numerous eateries, and the Basque Market. The facility is close to downtown shopping, restaurants, and various activities. The Grove Hotel and the Boise Convention Center are one block away, while the State Capitol building is only four blocks North. The Downtown Connector and Capitol Boulevard intersect a block from the Basque Center, so accessibility by car is easy. Parking is available in three nearby lots (small fee required), and a parking garage is within two blocks.

Conference Parking Information

This conference is being held in beautiful downtown Boise where, like most cities, parking is at a premium. Those conference participants staying in downtown are urged to walk the few blocks from their lodging to the Basque center. Those attending the Friday session may park in the numerous parking structures located around the downtown (first hour free, $1.50 per hour after), or the surface parking lots near the Basque Center ($3 per day). On Saturday and Sunday, metered street parking is free and readily available, especially early in the day.

Boise Mini Food-Film Festival

Basque Center, Saturday, February 4th, 2006, 7pm

Come join us for a popcorn and snacks and a great choice of films, all about food. Choose from titles such as: Future of Food, Farmer John, Broken Limbs, and the pilot episode for The Head Table (Oregon Public Broadcasting). We will relax and enjoy the wide variety of topics the food-film directors give us. Look forward to seeing you there!

Join Us at Our Table During the Conference

We are proud to announce that whenever possible, our meals will be prepared with delicious, fresh food from local producers who have put their heart into bringing food to the table. We look forward to sharing our table, our food, and our thoughts with you.
